1.0 Introduction to Federal Fund Braiding for Local Match

In 2018, the Coordinating Council on Access and Mobility (CCAM) conducted focus groups and listening sessions across the country to capture what State and local stakeholders perceived to be the most prominent barriers to local human service transportation coordination. Stakeholders, particularly those serving rural areas, consistently stated that fulfilling the match requirement for Federal grant programs is a challenge that impacts their ability to provide transportation. In some cases, potential Federal grantees reported canceling transportation projects altogether because they were unable to obtain the required match funds and thus could not receive Federal funding. Several participants stated that the ability to use Federal program funds to fulfill other Federal programs' match requirements ("Federal fund braiding for local match") would enable them to provide and coordinate transportation.

Section 200.306(b) of Title 2, Code of Federal Regulations, prohibits Federal fund braiding for local match "except where the Federal statute authorizing a program specifically provides that Federal funds made available for such program can be applied to matching or cost sharing requirements of other Federal programs."

The CCAM conducted Program Analysis Working Sessions in 2018 and 2019 with several Federal CCAM sub-agencies to clarify and document which Federal programs' statutes expressly provide this authorization. Participating sub-agencies were from the Department of Transportation (DOT), the Department of Justice (DOJ), the Department of Health and Human Services (HHS), the Department of Agriculture (USDA), and the Department of Veterans Affairs (VA). In total, 61 programs were examined out of the 130 Federal programs that may provide funding for human service transportation for people with disabilities, older adults, and/or individuals of low income.¹

Based on the input from each participating agency, this guide defines Federal fund braiding for local match and program eligibility to enable Federal agencies and Federal grant recipients to more effectively manage Federal funds and coordinate human service transportation.

1.1 Definition of Federal Fund Braiding for Local Match

Federal fund braiding for local match, also referred to as Federal fund braiding, is when funds from one Federal program are used to meet the match requirements of another. The term "braiding" describes multiple independent funding streams coming together to fund a single project. These Federal funding "strands" never lose their identity and grantees report to both participating agencies regarding how specific funds are spent. Though the phrase "Federal fund braiding" sometimes refers to other arrangements, this guide uses the phrase exclusively in the context of Federal fund braiding for local match.

Funds eligible for Federal fund braiding can be categorized into two types: incoming and outgoing. A program considers a Federal fund braiding arrangement to be incoming when another Federal program's funds fulfill its match requirement in order to fund a single transportation project. A program considers a Federal fund braiding arrangement to be outgoing when its funds fulfill the match requirements of another Federal program in order to fund a single transportation project.

Consider the case where Program A contributes 80 percent of a project's cost and Program B fulfills the match requirement of Program A by contributing the remaining 20 percent of the project's costs. Program A considers this arrangement to be incoming Federal fund braiding because another program's funds are "coming in" to fulfill its match requirement. Program B considers this arrangement to be outgoing Federal fund braiding because its funds are “going out” to fulfill another program’s match requirement. Grantees still need to fulfill Program B’s match requirement, if applicable. For example, this may mean that Program A funds 80 percent of the project cost, Program B funds 15 percent, and the grantee funds the remaining 5 percent with local funds in order to fulfill Program B’s match requirement. The figure below depicts the flow of incoming and outgoing funds for this example project.

2.0 Federal Fund Braiding Information for Grantees

A project that receives funds from multiple Federal programs must meet all requirements of the participating Federal agencies, including eligibility requirements, reporting requirements, regulatory requirements, statutory requirements, and program guidance.

Potential grantees should first verify that their prospective project meets both Federal programs’ eligibility requirements. For example, any program funds used to fulfill the match requirement of another program must fund a transportation project or activity that is eligible under both programs and benefits both programs’ grantees.

Potential grantees should then confirm whether the two Federal programs from which they would like to receive funds may participate in Federal fund braiding. The table in Section 4 of this guide, as well as individual program webpages, should be consulted. If the two programs allow Federal fund braiding, the potential grantee would likely be able to apply for both sources of funds as long as they meet all other requirements, such as reporting requirements. Potential grantees should confirm with both programs’ program managers to confirm that applicability has not changed.

Remember
In order to participate in Federal fund braiding, a project must meet all requirements of the participating Federal agencies, including: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Eligibility requirements • Reporting requirements • Match requirements • Regulatory requirements • Statutory requirements • Program guidance

If it is unclear whether one or both Federal programs may participate in Federal fund braiding, then potential grantees should contact the program managers at the relevant Federal agencies for assistance in making a determination.

While the information in this guide is accurate as of publication, legislative or regulatory changes may affect programs’ Federal fund braiding eligibility. Grantees should confirm with the appropriate Federal agency that Federal fund braiding is allowable before braiding funds.

3.0 Federal Fund Braiding Information for Federal Agencies

The following two decision trees summarize the basic questions that Federal agencies and their counsel must answer in order to determine if a program may participate in a potential Federal fund braiding arrangement. It is important to consider whether Federal fund braiding is theoretically and legally possible, not whether it has been done previously. Once a determination is made, the CCAM encourages the Federal agency to update the program website to clarify the issue for prospective grantees, as well as contact the CCAM (CCAM@dot.gov) so that the broader CCAM materials may be updated.

Remember

4.0 CCAM Federal Fund Braiding Program Determinations

The table below lists program-by-program determinations on Federal fund braiding eligibility, as documented in the 2018 and 2019 Program Analysis Working Sessions. It does not include all CCAM agency grant programs found in the CCAM Program Inventory. The CCAM Program Inventory was published in October 2019 and identifies 130 Federal programs that are able to provide funding for human services transportation for people with disabilities, older adults, and/or individuals of low income. A project that receives funds from multiple Federal programs must meet all requirements of the participating Federal agencies, including eligibility requirements, reporting requirements, regulatory requirements, statutory requirements, and program guidance.

The table below notes several instances where a program may participate in Federal fund braiding if the other participating program's statute has express authority to allow Federal fund braiding. In these instances, the original program's statute is silent on whether it may participate in Federal fund braiding.

In addition to the results below, HHS counsel has confirmed that any HHS grant program that may fund transportation is eligible to participate in outgoing Federal fund braiding as long as (1) the HHS program's statute is silent on whether its funds can be used to fulfill the match requirement of the other participating Federal program; and (2) the other participating Federal program must expressly allow its match requirement to be met with other Federal funds.² As with all projects funded via Federal fund braiding, the project must still meet all requirements of the participating Federal agencies, including eligibility and reporting requirements, regulations, and program guidance. This determination applies to all HHS grant programs that may fund transportation, including those not listed in the table below but found in the CCAM Program Inventory.

² This determination was first announced in October 2019 at the Access and Mobility for All Summit hosted by DOT.
